

Principal Corner for September 28th
Rich in Academics, Rooted in Faith

In June of 2019, I received the following letter from Sarah and Brian Broadwell.

During our tour of Saint Cecilia, we saw an opportunity for our children to receive an education while also providing them with an on-going formation in their faith. The small class size and outstanding student-to-teacher ratio left us with an incomparable impression of teachers not only being able to tailor lesson plans and provide individual support, but also the fostering of a tight-knit community.

We are excited at the opportunity for our children to attend Saint Cecilia because the lessons they teach go beyond the classroom. Not only are they taught science, math, history and social studies, they are also being taught to be kind, compassionate, and empathetic. The comfortable, nurturing environment we saw cultivated well-spoken independent thinkers.

We want our children to attend a school that is both rich in academics and rooted in faith. We feel that Saint Cecilia is a school that both nurtures their mind as well as their soul and enables us as parents to be able to experience the joy of them growing in their faith.

I am happy to share that Sarah and Brian moved to Bainbridge Island in August, became members of our parish and enrolled their 1st grade son and 5th grade daughter at SCCS. In addition, we hired Sarah Broadwell to serve as our first ever Marketing Director.

With joy,

Susan Kilbane
